

Invesco Solo 401(k)[®]
With designated Roth contributions

An Innovative Savings Tool

Being your own boss
just got easier.

Are you an owner-only business looking to enhance your retirement savings? If so, consider taking advantage of the generous contribution limit – potentially up to $49,000 ($54,500 if age 50 or older) in 2011 – available through the Invesco Solo 401(k). This innovative retirement-savings tool is a profit sharing plan with a traditional or Roth 401(k) contribution feature designed for businesses with no employees other than the owners and their spouses. And with an Invesco Solo 401(k), you'll have the opportunity to invest in our diversified line of mutual funds, which includes choices for investors at all levels of risk tolerance. Please keep in mind that diversification does not ensure a profit or eliminate the risk of loss.

Features and benefits

- Flexibility. Both salary deferrals and profit sharing contributions are discretionary – you do not have to make them each year.
- Rollovers. Rollovers from other eligible plans, including traditional IRAs, are permitted – giving you an opportunity to consolidate your retirement assets.
- Loans. Loans are available.
- Tax benefits. Profit sharing contributions and traditional salary deferrals are tax deductible, and earnings accumulate on a tax-deferred basis. Keep in mind, however, that any withdrawals made prior to 59½ may be subject to tax penalties.
- Low cost. Costs for an Invesco Solo 401(k) are substantially less than those of a standard 401(k).
- Designated Roth contributions. This feature offers tax-free earnings growth for all investors – and tax-free distributions for those 59½ or older or who meet the specified criteria.

1 Generally, earned income is net earnings from self-employment for purposes of the self-employment tax, reduced by plan contributions and one-half of the self-employment tax.

2 You may make additional catch-up contributions if you are 50 or older.

Plan Summary

The Invesco Solo 401(k) offers a variety of benefits including high contribution limits and loans as well as minimal requirements for reporting and discrimination testing.

■ Who can establish

Businesses with no employees other than the owners and their spouses. If you have employees or anticipate hiring W-2 employees in the near future, this plan may not be appropriate for you.¹

■ Annual contributions

All contributions are discretionary. Compensation is earned income for self-employed individuals or unincorporated businesses.

Maximum Contribution Amounts

	2011
Maximum salary deferral contribution	Lesser of $16,500 or 100% of compensation
Maximum profit sharing contribution	25% of your eligible compensation; maximum considered compensation is $245,000
Maximum combined contributions (both salary deferrals and profit sharing)	Lesser of $49,000 or 100% of compensation
Catch-up contributions	Up to $5,500 if you are 50 or older

■ Rollover contributions

Rollovers from other eligible plans are permitted.

■ Vesting

You are 100% vested immediately.

■ Loans

Loans are available. Generally, you may borrow up to one-half of your account balance, but no more than $50,000.

■ Withdrawals

Distributions are limited to the terms of the plan. In-service withdrawals are available. Minimum distributions are required for owners 70½ or older. Distributions that are not qualified Roth distributions are subject to income tax in the year withdrawn and a 10% early withdrawal penalty if withdrawn prior to 59½.²

■ Deadline to establish

The plan must be established by the employer's tax year end. The Plan Document must be signed and effective before contributions are made. Only compensation earned after the Adoption Agreement is signed may be deferred.

■ Discrimination testing

401(k) discrimination (actual deferral percentage) and top-heavy tests are not required.

■ Government reporting

Form 5500EZ is generally required if assets are more than $250,000.

■ Trustee

You (the business owner) will serve as trustee of the plan.

1 Adopting an individual 401(k) plan will not be a viable option if you hire full-time W-2 employees age 21 or older or part-time employees who work more than 1,000 hours per year.

2 Withdrawals of Roth contributions and earnings are not taxed provided they are a qualified distribution where the account is held for at least 5 years and the event where a participant is either disabled, after death, or after attainment of age 59½. A distribution that is not a qualified distribution will be partially included in gross income if there are earnings in the account. The distribution will be treated as coming pro-rata from earnings and contributions (basis). The 10% tax on early withdrawals may apply to the part of the distribution that is includible in gross income.

Service Plan Options

Fee structures and service levels differentiate the two service plan options.

Invesco offers self-service and full-service options to meet your unique needs.

- Self service. A “do-it-yourself” plan for owners who have experience sponsoring employee benefit plans and require only minimal assistance with establishing and administering the plan.
- Full service. Through our alliances with experienced third-party administrators (TPAs), we offer plan establishment, compliance and administrative support.

The primary differences between the two plans are the levels of service provided and the fee structures. The self-service option does not offer administrative or compliance support from Invesco or a TPA. As the business owner, you are responsible for ensuring that contributions, withdrawals and loans comply with all applicable laws and regulations. For full-service plans, a TPA assists in setting up the plan and provides administrative services, which is why the fees are higher.

In addition, there are differences in the specific provisions within each Plan Document.

To decide which option is best for you, discuss each one with your financial advisor. Specifically, you’ll want to consider your familiarity with retirement plans, the amount of time and work you are willing to dedicate to the ongoing maintenance of your plan, and whether or not you expect to take a loan.

Invesco Solo 401(k) Q&A

For owner-only businesses, the Invesco Solo 401(k) provides a retirement-savings vehicle with fewer administrative and compliance requirements than a traditional 401(k).

What types of businesses are candidates for an Invesco Solo 401(k)?

The Invesco Solo 401(k) is designed for businesses that have no employees other than owners and their spouses. It is not designed for businesses with employees due to the additional testing and administrative requirements. If you have employees or think you may hire employees in the near future, this plan may not be appropriate for you. Discuss other plan options with your advisor.

How is the Invesco Solo 401(k) different from traditional 401(k) plans?

The primary difference is in the administrative and compliance requirements of the plan. A 401(k) plan sponsored by a business employing owners and their spouses only (no employees) is not subject to 401(k) discrimination testing and has fewer administrative requirements. 401(k) discrimination testing limits the percentage of compensation that can be deferred by highly compensated employees (as compared to the percentage of compensation deferred by nonhighly compensated employees). Owners may receive contribution refunds as a result of this testing.

In addition, a plan covering only one participant and his or her spouse is generally not required to file a Form 5500 until the plan's assets exceed $250,000.

What happens if I establish an Invesco Solo 401(k) and then hire employees?

If you anticipate hiring W-2 employees, this plan may not be appropriate for you. If the plan covers eligible employees, it will be subject to 401(k) discrimination testing, which may require refunds of all or a portion of your deferrals. You may have to make top-heavy minimum contributions, and you and your employee(s) will receive the same profit sharing contribution percentage. Review your plan provisions with your tax advisor before hiring employees.

When can I begin contributing to the plan?

You may begin making contributions once the plan is established. The Plan Adoption Agreement must be signed by the employer's tax year end. Contributions must be made by the employer's tax-filing due date, including extensions. Only compensation earned after the plan is adopted may be deferred. Consult your tax advisor before making annual contributions to ensure you meet the deductibility requirements.

Can I make designated Roth contributions to my Invesco Solo 401(k)?

Yes, if your Plan Document allows for it. If adding this feature to an existing plan, you must amend your Plan Document.

My spouse and I own a business. Can we both participate in the plan?

If both you and your spouse are employed by and receive compensation from the business, you are both eligible to participate in the plan.

Can I take a loan from my Invesco Solo 401(k)?

Yes. Generally, you may borrow up to one-half of your account balance, but no more than $50,000. The terms of the loan are subject to IRS regulations.

Are Invesco Solo 401(k) investments guaranteed?

No. The historical returns of funds are not a guarantee of future performance. The earnings and principal value of an investment will vary with market conditions. All investments are subject to certain risks, so that shares, when sold, may be worth more or less than their original cost.

Before investing, investors should carefully read the prospectus and/or summary prospectus and carefully consider the investment objectives, risks, charges and expenses.
